CAPACITY BUILDING PROGRAMME of National Mission on Libraries for PUBLIC LIBRARY PERSONNEL

National Mission on Libraries (NML)

National Mission on Libraries i.e. High Level Committee, was set up by Ministry of Culture, Government of India, vide Notification No. 18-4/2009_Lib (Pt) dated 4th May, 2012 in pursuance of National Knowledge Commission recommendations for sustained attention for development of Libraries and Information Science Sector.

National Mission on Libraries set up four working groups and after deliberating on the recommendations of the working groups formulated the scheme "National Mission on Libraries (NML) - upgradation of libraries providing service to the public". The scheme consists of four components.

Creation of National Virtual Library of India (NVLI)

NVLI has been envisaged to create a comprehensive repository of digital resources on information about India and information generated in India. NVLI would facilitate dissemination of such information to the citizens in an open access environment through multilingual federated search interfaces.

Setting up of NML Model Libraries

Under the scheme of Setting up on NML Model Libraries, 6 Libraries under the Ministry of Culture, 35 State Central Libraries and 35 District Libraries are to be developed as model Libraries.

Quantitative & Qualitative Survey of Libraries

The Quantitative Survey of Libraries has been undertaken to prepare a baseline data on existing infrastructure & resources available in public libraries in India through a survey of 5000 Libraries. The qualitative survey has been undertaken to collect data from 7000 users & non-users to understand the need and expectation of citizens from the Public Library.

Capacity Building

The Capacity Building programme is being organized to enhance the professional competence of library personnel.

About the Capacity Building Training Programme

One of the important components of National Mission on Libraries is Capacity Building. The country is abuzz with utilization of ICT tools in dissemination of knowledge. The present scenario has created a complex and challenging environment in which the library professionals have to function at a time when there are increasing expectations from their performance and ability to respond more efficiently and effectively to the needs of the citizens. It was felt that in order to be able to cater to the needs of librarians in diverse geographies they need to be trained as per their levels of present understanding and the future needs as librarians to fulfill their role effectively.

The changing library environment to cope with this phenomenon, NML has already taken an initiative to provide need-based training programmes for various categories of library professionals working in public and other libraries towards their capacity building and help promote upgradation of library service standards in the digital era.

Raja Rammohun Roy Library Foundation (RRRLF), the nodal agency of NML for administrative, logistics, planning and budgeting purposes under the Ministry of Culture, Government of India, is entrusted to conduct these training programmes for the public library personnel throughout the country.
